CONVENTION DRAGS.

NOTHING YET ACCOMPLISHED.

PLATFORM QUARREL CAUSES DELAY.

A Hot Fight Against 16 to 1 in the Committee and Hill Announces That the Fight Shall go Into the Convention—New York, Under the Influence of Croker has Refused to Contest 16 to 1—Towne Hopeful—Only the Band can Drown the Cheers for Hill.

Kansas City, July 5.—The convention had succeeded only in electing a permanent chairman, Jas. D. Richardson, of Tennessee, when it adjourned last night. The platform committee adjourned at 3:30 this morning after a session of eleven hours, and after adopting a declaration of 16 to 1, by a vote of 26 to 24. The struggle was very bitter. Chapman, of Ohio, offered a motion to endorse the Chicago platform without specifically endorsing sixteen to one. Stone, of Missouri, offered a substitute specifying the endorsement. The battle waged for hours on this line. Van Wyck, of New York, pleaded with the committee not to force a platform that would ruin the party in New York. He made a strong appeal to the delegates from the South, and warned them of the force bill in case of the re-election of McKinley. Daniel, Sinclair, Harrison and Broughton assisted him. The main speeches in favor of 16 to 1 were by Williams, of Massachusetts and Blackburn.

Hill this morning declared that the fight over the platform would be taken into the convention, saying that "the action of the resolutions committee are not inclusive. The list of States that voted for the 16 to 1 plank include States that never bring a vote to the Democratic party, and States with small delegations. Nearly every doubtful State is in the column against sixteen to one. The question is not settled by any means, wait till it comes up in the convention."

NEW YORK BACKS OUT.

Although New York voted in the committee against sixteen to one, Van Wyck refused to sign the minority report against this proposition, and this morning it was understood that Croker and Tammany had agreed that New York should not contest the 16 to 1 plank. This was the first break in the conservative ranks. Texas also decided not to fight the report.

THE VOTE ON THE SILVER PLANK.

The vote for the silver plank in the convention was as follows: Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Deleware, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Massachusetts, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Oregon, South Carolina, Tennessee, Vermont, Washington, Wyoming, Arizona, Oklahoma, Indian Territory, New Mexico, Hawaii, 26. Noes—California, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Louisiana, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, West Virginia, Virginia, Wisconsin, Alaska, 24. Not voting—District of Columbia, Montana, 2.

COMMITTEE TO REPORT AT 4 O'CLOCK.

The committee on resolutions met this morning at ten o'clock and adopted the platform in full, the former meeting having only adopted the money plank. Owing to the necessity for verbal changes the committee decided not to report till 4 o'clock, eastern time.

TOWNE MAKING CLAIMS.

Charles I Towne says: "I believe I have 75 chances out of 100 to be nominated for vice-president. The Southern delegations are coming to me in great numbers and saying that they will vote for me."

CONVENTION MEETS AND ADJOURNS.

At 10:34 Chairman Richardson took his seat and the speaking began, There were repeated calls for Hill, but Richardson seemed determined not to call Hill. The repeated calls and hisses were drowned by the band with the "Star Spangled Banner" and "Dixie." Every time the band stopped there were renewed cries for Hill.

At 12.14 J. B. McCullough, of Indiana, spoke, followed by Governor Beckham, of Kentucky, who claimed that Kentucky would give 100,000 plurality for the Democratic ticket.

At 12:45 the convention adjourned till 4:30 eastern time.

LIGHTNING'S WORK.

Several Buildings Damaged During Yesterday Afternoon's Storm.

During the severe thunder and rainstorm yesterday afternoon considerable damage was done by lightning. A cottage in Warnersville, the property of George McAdoo, colored, was struck and badly burned.

Considerable damage was also done the Baptist church at Proximity, a part of the weatherboarding on one side being torn off.

Lightning struck the chimney to the house of Mr. J. L. Hendrix, who lives just beyond the old Benbow mill, slightly damaging the house. Mrs Hendrix and other members of the family were stunned by the shock.

The horses hitched to a carriage which had been stopped at a house between here and the Battle Ground became excited and broke loose, running against a buggy and damaging the vehicles. The party that had stopped for the rain was composed of Gen. Boynton, Col. Boyd, Mrs. Tallman, Miss Staples and others. Mrs. Tallman was thrown from the carriage, suffering painful injury.

Robbers Arrested.

Today Chief Scott arrested Andrew Burton and Jim Gray, two negroes suspected of robbing Mr. J. W. Rogers' store at Jamestown a week or so ago. When arrested they disclaimed any knowledge whatever of such a place as Jamestown. Later they admitted that there was a place of that name somewhere in North Carolina, but denied having ever been there. A part of the stolen goods were identified by the merchant.

At the Race Track.

A fairly good crowd went out to Vanstory's track yesterday afternoon to witness the horse racing, but on account of the rainstorm only one race was run. Elma Delma, Mr. E. A. Holt's horse, and Queen Bess, owned by Mr. P. H. Lybrook, of Winston, were entered for the 2:30 class. Elma Delma was driven by Ewalt and Queen Bess by Dyer, the former winning two heats out of three.

White Supremacy Crowds.

Solicitor A. L. Brooks, who spoke at Spray yesterday with Congressman Kitchin, returned this morning. Last night he spoke at Leaksville to almost the entire population of the town. A number of ladies were present. Music was furnished by a band.

Mr. Brooks says about 2,000 people attended the speaking and picnic at Spray.

To Write the History.

At the reunion of the Fifth North Carolina Cavalry, held in this city yesterday afternoon, Mr. Edward Wootten, of Wilmington, was appointed to write a history of the regiment to go in the history of the North Carolina troops in the Confederate army, now being prepared by Judge Walter Clark. Mr. Wootten was first lieutenant in Company B of the Fifth Cavalry.

Killed at the Battle Ground.

An unknown negro man was run over and killed by a train at the Battle Ground some time during last night. He was found lying by the track this morning, the top of his head torn off. Dr. J. P. Turner, county coroner, went out about noon and held an inquest.

GREAT BARBARITY OF CHINESE.

THEY ARE SLICING UP VICTIMS.

The Emperor has Been Forced to Poison Himself—The Situation Going Into Savagery—The Commander of the Allied Forces Says it Will be Suicide to Attempt to Reach Pekin With the Forces Now Available—The Fall of Tien-Tsin City.

By Wire to the Telegram.

Shanghai, July 5.—The Emperor has committed suicide by taking poison, under compulsion, it is said. Prince Tuan Juan and the Empress Dowager also took poison, but they are still alive. It is reported that they are insane from the effects of the drug.

A report of the above has been officially made to the German consular staff.

BRITISH LEGATION REPORTED SAFE.

London, July 5.—A dispatch received today from a news agency at Shanghai announces that the British legation, with 1,600 refuges, is still safe. The dispatch is dated yesterday. But little credence is given the above report.

CRUELTY OF THE CHINESE.

London, July 5, 2:30 a. m.—The commanders of the allies in Tien-Tsin inform the correspondents that it would be suicide to attempt to reach Pekin with the troops now available, in the face of the colossal force of imperial troops and Boxers occupying the country between Tien-Tsin and Pekin. So far from taking the offensive, the 12,000 troops at Tien-Tsin and the 8,000 at Taku and intermediate points can barely keep up communications, fighting incessantly with overwhelming numbers, using far more numerous artillery pieces than the allies. This telegram has been received:

"Shanghai, July 4, 11:10 a. m., via Che Fu. Tien-Tsin city fell between 7 and 8 o'clock in the morning of June 30."

It is understood that Shanghai refered to the native city of Tien-Tsin from which the Chinese have been bombarding the foreign quarter. The dispatch is taken to mean that the allies are more than holding their own. Other advices received by the way of Shanghai aver that the Chinese losses around Tien-Tsin are between 7,000 and 8,000, according to official estimates. A correspondent of The Express at Che Fu, telegraphing Wednesday, says Admiral Seymour was wounded while sitting in a house at Tien-sin by Chinese sharp-shooters.

Official news received at Che Fu shows that the Chinese have been guilty of horrible cruelty toward the wounded and captured, subjecting them to what is known as the ling che, or the slicing process. Under this hideous rite, the bodies of the fallen have been mutilated. The Russians are retaliating by wholesale shooting of natives. The situation, according to the Express correspondent, shows signs of drifting into barbarism and savagery.

"Jumped" His Hands.

Joe Holt, a negro employed in the R. J. Reynolds Company's tobacco factory in Winston, was arrested here last night. Holt had charge of a squad of hands and was paid for all the work done by them, he in turn paying the laborers. When the factory paid off last Saturday he disappeared, leaving the hands working under him unpaid. The Legislature has enacted a special statute covering this offence and the penalty is severe.

An officer from Winston came down for Holt this morning.

In nine cases out of ten a defective looking figure is not so in reality, but is simply the result of continuously wearing badly fitting bodices and not giving sufficient attention to the cut of the underwear and the shape of the corsets. This season all bodices and coats are tight fitting, added to which skirts are still made to cling closely around the hips; therefore the undergarments must be made with as few seams or creases as possible as far as the hips, the remaining fullness is then arranged to the size of the waist by means of a drawstring, and in order to still further reduce the waist measurement, shaped to the figure combinations made of fine quality natural wool or silk are generally adopted by the leaders of fashion in all grades of society.

PRAYED GOD AGAINST TOWNE.

Democrats in Raleigh Don't Like Him—Tarboro the Leading Team—The Negro's Curious Position on the Amendment.

Special Correspondence to the Telegram.

Raleigh, July 5.—So far as can be learned there were very few accidents in this State yesterday, resulting from the fireworks, etc. Two children here were burned by powder explosions, and one, a seven-year-old son of teller F H. Briggs of the Raleigh National Bank, may lose his eyesight.

Feeling is beginning to run quite high about the constitutional amendment, and it is said the negroes are in some cases making threats. The negroes appear to be playing a double part. They give it out publicly, that is, those who do any talking, that they take no sort of interest in the amendment and want the white people to settle that question. But such talk is suspicious, to say the least. The negroes will no doubt attempt, to the very last man, to register and vote. It has been notorious under the fusion regime that many many who were under aged voted.

The next event of interest in the State will be the firemen's tournament at Wilmington, which is to be made quite a large affair. It is said that over thirty teams will take part. The Raleigh firemen have not for a number of years participated in these tournaments.

The Raleigh baseball team requires much strengthening. The men who are backing the Tarboro team say it has for three years past been the State champion and that they intend to keep it so. It is the best of the association teams seen here so far. The association games are not nearly so interesting thus far as those played here last spring by the colleges.

The feeling against Towne was very plainly shown here by Democrats, who when it began to be rumored that he would be nominated for vice president, said they prayed this would never happen.

LIGHTNING STRIKES STANDARD OIL

Fifty Tanks Have Exploded, Causing A Loss of $5,000,000.

By Wire to the Telegram.

Bayonne, Pa., July 5.—One of the Standard Oil Company's tanks near here was struck by lightning last night and started a conflagration which is still raging. Fifty tanks have exploded and much property has been destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $5,000,000.

One man is dead and one missing. Six are injured.

A HAPPY EVENT.

The Cotillion Club's Fourth of July Ball And Reception.

The Fourth of July dances are eagerly looked forward to each year, for they are always delightful affairs, but the ball and reception given last night at the McAdoo House, by the Crocall Cotillion Club, eclipsed all former efforts. The floor was fine and the music simply delightful. After dancing until half after twelve, the delicious and cooling ices were more than welcome. During the "wee sma' hours" the german, very happily and gracefully led by Mr. Charles Hagan, was indulged in.

The visiting young ladies were beautifully gowned, as were also our own fair representatives.

Many lingered long over the "Home Sweet Home"—reluctant to depart.

Among those present were: Miss Zelle Burton, of Durham, and Mr. Horry; Miss Kyle, of Tennessee, and Mr. Lanier; Miss Kellett, of Texas, and Mr. Murray; Miss Sydnor, of Virginia, and Mr. Van Noppen; Miss Shober, of Charlotte, and Mr. Sellars; Miss Sallie Langhorn, of Georgia, and Mr. Shields; Miss Hellen, of Wiston, and Mr. Paul Schenck; Miss Clara Hamner, of High Point, and Mr. McAdoo; Miss Ella Farish, of Virginia, and Mr. Penn; Miss Shemwell, and Mr. John King; Miss Pearl Balsley, and Mr. Bradley; Miss Maybelle White, and Mr. Harrison; Miss Nettie Sloan, and Mr. Thompson; Miss Maude Hunter, and Mr. Junius Scales; Miss Walker Fry, and Mr. Giles Mebane; Miss Bessie Merrimon, and Dr. Harrison; Miss Katherine Stedman, and Dr. G. A. Mebane; Miss Lizzie Leigh Dick, and Mr. Staples; Miss Katherine Waddell, and Mr. Douglas; Miss Margaret DeButts, and Mr. Thompson; Miss Lilian Staples, and Mr. Tallman; Miss Marjorie Lyon, and Mr. Sloan; Miss Irvin Scales, and Mr. Berger; Miss Rebecca Schenck, and Mr. Schenck.

The chaperones were: Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Lash, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Lyon, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Gayle, Dr. and Mrs. Baum, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Menefee, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. McKenzie, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bradshaw, and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gilmer.

Stags: Messrs. P. D. Gold Jr., Charlie Hagan, of Virginia; Dick DeButts, Walker, of Virginia, and Hal Mebane.

The Wound Not Fatal.

Mr. A. S. Morris, who was shot at the Battle Ground yesterday afternoon, was brought to his home at Proximity and is resting as well as could be expected. The ball passed through his stomach and lodged in the small of the back. It was extracted this morning. The wound is not considered fatal.

Will Ingram (not Scales, as published in yesterday's Telegram,) the negro who did the shooting, has not been captured.

Struck by a Freight Train.

While sitting on the end of a crosstie near the coal schute, about 8:30 last night, a white man by the name of Edwards was struck by an incoming freight train. He was struck in the back and right painfully, though not seriously, injured. It was a very narrow escape from a horrible death and will probably teach the man to be careful in the future.

Marriage Tonight.

Mr. James Amos, of Reidsville, and Miss Susie Davis, who has had charge of the millinery department at the Bee Hive, will be married at 9 o'clock this evening at the home of Mrs. J. M. Sikes, on West Washington street. They will leave immediately after the ceremony on a northern bridal tour.

SCENES IN THE CONVENTION.

SOME LIVELY TILTS AND INCIDENTS

Hill Took a Back Seat but Mention of His Name Evoked the Mingled Effects of Unbounded Enthusiasm and Hisses—The Fight Over 16 to 1—The Contest Between Texas and New York—Altgeld Didn't do Much—Daniel Against a 16 to 1 Declaration.

The convention, at its three sessions yesterday and last night, got no further on the road to business than a permanent organization. The real work began today. Below we give some interesting scenes from yesterday.

THE HUBUB OVER HILL.

During the early portion of Governor Altgeld's address the hum of conversation in the galleries and among the delegates was so loud that not much of what he said was audible except to those close to him. The name of Mark Hanna, uttered in accents which did not imply approval, was the first thing the crowd at large caught and what the missile had been or whether it had hit the mark, there was a howl of delight. His prognostications of Democratic success next fall was the signal for another vocal spasm, and he declared that if the Democrats of the country had not sufficient confidence in their delegates to entrust the cause of Democracy to them, they would not have sent them here to nominate a candidate for the presidency. This coming from a man of Governor Altgeld's known attitude upon the silver question was taken by the 16 to 1 advocates as a direct championship of their cause, and they were on their feet in an instant, shouting and waving hats and handkerchiefs with the greatest enthusiasm. So loud was the cheering that the speaker was compelled to suspend his remarks until the uproar had subsided. It came again in a minute, however, when he declared that any modification of the Chicago platform would place the Democratic party in a ridiculous position before the American people. Again his voice was drowned for a few minutes while the advocates of 16 to 1 voiced their approval in cheers audible beyond the walls.

The anti-16 to 1 people took the inning in another minute when he spoke favorably of the ratio of 16 to 1, and there were loud cries of "No!" "No!"

The speaker unwittingly touched off a mine by using the expression in discussing the attitude of certain Democrats toward the silver question, "Now, my friend Hill." That was as far as he got for several minutes. The name of Hill again started the uproar that had marked the first session of the convention. From all sides of the hall and particulaly from the Southern delegates came loud cries of "Hill!" "Hill!" Mingled with the calls for the New Yorker came hisses in plenty, and despite the vigorous use of the gavel, all semblance of order was lost and nothing could be heard save the call of "Hill!" and the disapproving hisses.

HILL TAKES A BACK SEAT.

With Kentuckians sat their youthful Governor, Becham, accompanied by Senator Blackburn, and ex-Governor McCreary. Senator Hill was late to come upon the scene. The great audience had been eagerly awaiting him, and his entrance was the signal for the first ovation of the day. He found no place reserved among the Croker-Murphy dignitaries in the forefront of the delegation, and contented himself with a seat far in the rear.

WHIRLWINDS OF DEMONSTRATION.

Amid scenes of tumultuous enthusiasm, befitting such an event and such a day, the Democratic national convention began its sessions. But after sitting until a late hour last night the expected climax of the day, the nomination of W. J. Bryan as the Democratic candidate for President, has failed of realization, and all of the larger business of the convention waits the completion of the platform. As a spectacular evert, however, the convention has fulfilled the hopes of the most fervid party men, for the vast assemblage of delegates and spectators has twice been swept with whirlwind demonstrations, first for the leader who is about to be placed in nomination, and then for that other champion of Democracy—David B Hill. But in actual accomplishment, the day's work is confined to organization, with the speeches of the temporary chairman, Governor Thomas, of Colorado, and of the permanent chairman, Hon. James D. Richardson, the appointment of the various committees and the detailed prepartions for the more serious work yet in store.

NOT A GATHERING OF RICH MEN.

It was an inspiring scene that Chairman Jones looked out upon when at noon, after beating a tattoo with his gavel he stilled the tumult and declared the convention open. About him were fully 25,000 people, rising tier on tier, like the spectators in some vast coliseum, waiting the appearance of the delegates, while on either side stretched away the rows of desks accommodating representatives of the press from every section of the country. It was clearly not a gathering of wealth. The bronzed faces of many of the men, their coarse shirts, collarless and scarfless, marked them as from the soil. With hardly an exception they took off their coats and sat short-sleeved and democratic. Many of the women were in cambrics and ginghams, rather than in summer silks and laces, and the gorgeous costumes and picture hats were in an oasis of duller hue. It was a gathering none the less inspired with the patriotic spirit of the day, which found constant expression in wild hurrahs at every sound of "Dixie" or "America." In the body of delegates were the best known men of the party, many of them of national reputation. In front of them sat Governor John Walter Smith, of Maryland, and his delegation. Alongside them was that notable New York trio, Croker, Murphy and Van Wyck. To the right was the classic face of Daniel, of Virginia, while back of him Arthur Sewall, of Maine, and Senator White, of California, conferred across the aisle. To the left at the head of the Massachusetts delegation was their intrepid young leader, George Fred Williams. Near him sat Governor McMillin, of Tennessee, and the tall, gaunt, Clay-like figure of Richardson, soon to be permanent chairman of the convention.

THE FRENZY OVER BRYAN.

The conclusion of Chairman Richardson's speech, which he had arranged under sixteen separate heads, was the signal for terrific applause and cheers. His mention of the name of W. J. Bryan brought the convention to its feet in a frenzy of enthusiasm. Delegates sprang up on their chairs, waving hats, hankerchiefs, umbrellas in the wildest fashion. By common impulse the poles bearing the names of States were torn up and thrust into the air. Then down aisles toward the speakers came the delegates surrounding one man who held the name of the State aloft. Texas and New York became engaged in a rivalry as to which should hold the name of the State highest in the air. The Lone Star State had the advantage at the outset, for the New York standard had been grasped by one of the small men of the delegation. This was quickly remedied when the Tammany men saw themselves in second place. The pole bearing the name of the State was grabbed from the small New Yorker, he was bumped down into his chair and Mr. Kellar, endorsed by New York for Vice-President, seized it. Mr. Kellar put Texas in second place in a flash and try as desperately as he might, the Texan could not place the name of his State one foot over that of New York. Wild with excitement the Texans grasped their man, raised him on their shoulders and New York was down again, but as before it went down only to rise higher. Richard Croker, Grady, Carroll and a half dozen others of the delegation came to Mr. Kellar's assistance and the emblem of the Empire State went up again nearer the ceiling by a foot that the Texas man had been able to reach.

THE FIGHT OVER 16 TO 1.

The contest over the question of the monetary ratio, which has been brewing ever since delegates to the conventions began to assemble, found expression in the committee on resolutions when it assembled today. The committe was called together soon after the first adjournment of the convention, but they only elected its officers and adjourned to meet at 3.30 p. m. Senator Jones, of Arkansas, was unanimously chosen chairman, and Mr. Metcalf, of Nebraska, secretary. When the committee reassembled, Mr. Metcalf presented the draft of a platform, as did Mr. Van Wyck, of New York. All these documents took practically the same ground upon all questions except that of the finances. Mr. Metcalf's declaration was for the reaffirmation of the Chicago platform in letter and spirit and it emphasized and reiterated specifically the declaration for the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. Both the other drafts simply re-affirmed the chicago platform without reverence to the ratio.

The reading of Mr. Van Wyck's document brought Mr. Ball, of Texas, to his feet, with the suggestion that the financial question should be immediately taken up and passed upon.

Mr. Van Wyck led off with a brief statement saying that while in his platform he had referred to four issues as prominent, namely, those of imperialism, militarism, trusts and the finances, he considered that only three of these were of current consequence, believing that the money question had been crowded into the background by other subjects which had pressed to the front during the past four years.

Senator Daniel, of Virginia, somewhat to the surprised of some of the members of the committee, followed Mr. Van Wyck in support of his view of the question. The Senator said that no man who knew him would doubt for a minute that he now stood where he now stood on the silver question in 1896, and that he entertained precisely the same views on this subject which then controlled him. He was, however, anxious to bring back into the fold of the party those who had left it four years ago, on account of the position taken on the silver question, and if this could be accomplished, as he believed it could be, by omiting all reference to the ratio, he, for one, was content to pursue that course, simply re-affirming the Chicago platform.

is now complete. All the latest and newest machines have been added that money could buy and the plant is now unsurpassed by any in the state. The Public, and especially the ladies, is cordially invited to call at any time and view the plant. We believe they would find it interesting to see the rapidity with which our new machines turn out work. A tablecloth, sheet or counterpane is ironed in thirty seconds or a dozen smaller articles in the same length of time. Collars and cuffs are ironed at one passage through the rollers of our Domestic machine. We also have a machine especially for ironing ladies' shirt waists. To mention in detail all of our machines would require too much space; a personal inspection is necessary to take it in. We run three delivery wagons for the accommodation of our patrons. THURSDAY, JULY 5, 1900.

In all kindness, and with a due appreciation of the partiality of our friends who do not subscribe for the Telegram, we have to say that this paper is printed to sell, not to give away. There is no more reason to walk into a newspaper office and beg for, or quietly appropriate a paper, than there is to walk into a grocery store and appropriate a pound of butter. Men in this town who never patronize this paper a penny's worth, beg, take or borrow it. There are just two sources of revenue for a newspaper, ist advertising columns and its paper sales, and no paper, whether it speaks of it or not, likes to be defrauded of the revenue that should come from one of these. We hope our patrons who sometimes have occasion to call at the office for a paper, will not think that this is meant for them. It is not. It is for the dead beats.

There were three very important sources of news yesterday from which the public was anxious to hear, and from each the day brought important reports. They were the local field, embracing the biggest day in the year in Greensboro; China, in which foreigners were being slaughtered like cattle, and Kansas City, in which the Democratic convention was making a large part of the political history of the year. The Telegram carried all this news yesterday afternoon to its readers, while those who neither subscribe for, nor borrow this paper, were left without the news. Our subscribers may rely upon the Telegram to give today's news today and all, too, that is going.

GENERAL BOYNTON'S SPEECH.

Lovers of the cause for which the Guilford Battle Ground Company has been striving for a dozen years can but be gratified beyond words at the speech delivered on the Grounds yesterday by General Henry V. Boynton. Not only does he do full credit to the Battle of Guilford Court House, but, what is more important, he gives full credit to the preliminary work leading up to the famous war for freedom. The opening paragraph of the speech is well worth repeating here:

Every American should esteem it a high privilege to take part in public exercises wherever this day commemorating our national independence is celebrated. It is an exceptional privilege, as well as high honor, to so participate in this commonwealth of North Carolina, upon whose soil the first battle against unjust taxation was fought in the colonial era, where the first declaration of independence was issued, and especially upon this memorable battle ground—the high-water mark of foreign invasion—from which that tide ebbed swiftly away to British surrender at Yorktown. Behold the mileposts which are set up along that shining way which leads straight on to American Independence: Alamance, Mecklenburg, King's Mountain, Cowpens, Guilford Court House, Yorktown!

This concession of facts is very gratifying to all North Carolinians who love their history, but the ample testimony and generous praise of the work in rescuing and preserving the battle ground is doubly gratifying. It should have the effect of making our people appreciate more than ever what they have and what has been done. More than this, it should stimulate them to greater effort, so that with or without government aid, they will determine to accomplish even greater things. The foundations are laid and only means are lacking. If General Boynton can say such things of our history and Battle Ground work, what ought we to feel, say and do?

An Old Man's View of Mr. McAlister's Card.

To the Editor of the Telegram:

Mr. McAlister's card, in the Telegram of Tuesday, had in it "the ring of the right metal." His reference to the action of himself and a few other Democrats in 1896, and the course he proposes concerning the national platform and nominees of the Democratic party for this year is given in no uncertain sound. It is pre-eminently conspicuous for candor and directness of speech—characteristics too much neglected by many writers.

Though already highly esteemed as a business man and gentleman, his commendable frankness and conservatism on important questions now agitating the public mind will eventuate in support of that optimistic view of one's future which says, "there is room at the top." That is a beautiful and encouraging truism, in which Mr. McAlister has shown himself capable and worthy to share largely.

Always interested in the advancement of our business young men, I felt constrained to write the above and subscribe myself AN OLD MAN.

The Telegram and the Battle Ground.

Concord Standard.

It is needless to say that any one who has studied the battle of Guilford Court House from our common histories and more especially from the ground itself finds it a matter to stir every emotion of patriotic interest.

The Greensboro Telegram came out last Saturday in a special edition containing historic facts that we had not yet seen.

It was not altogether without pain for one who had participated in the modes of fighting in the '60's to stand where those North Carolina militia stood and be told by the meager historic statement that they fired, leaving the impression that then they may have retreated in disorder while this it seems is even asserted.

The Guilford Battle Ground is a great pride inspiring spot and we are glad of the Telegram's special edition.

Two Gigantic Suits.

The United States Supreme Court is about to decide two important cases. One is the famous "hat trimmings" case, which has been in the various courts more or less for the past seventeen years and in the settlement of which anywhere from $5,000,000 to $35,000,000 is involved. The tariff of 1883 placed a certain rate of duty on trimmings of silk intended for hats, bonnets and hoods for men, women and children. Large importations of silk material which could be used on hats were made and presented for entry as hat trimmings. It was held that they were intended for other purposes, and they were assessed at a higher rate as silk. Despite the tremendous protests that followed this decision the government collected millions of disputed dollars in the way of tariff duties on such articles. Suit was brought to recover the difference between the duty on hat trimmings and on straightout silk goods, and it is estimated that the amount thus affected ranges anywhere from $5,000,000 to $35,000,000. The decision hinges on the interpretation of the term "chief use" as applied to the silk material.

The other case is that of the United States versus Harris and others. The defendants are receivers for the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, who are charged with a violation of the statute requiring the stoppage of cattle trains in transit at certain periods in order that the cattle may be given rest, water and food. The receivers of this road neglected to observe this law in a certain case and were proceeded against in the Eastern District of Pennsylvania to recover the penalty imposed for its violation. The District Court decided against the government, holding that the receivers were not liable to the penalty and the Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed the decision. The government has now applied to the Supreme Court for a writ of certiorari to have the case tried over, which the court has granted. The case is of considerable importance to the Agricultural Department in enforcing the act intended to protect cattle and to insure the killing of beef in good condition.

The people of Samoa appear to be still cherishing the absurd notion that they have a right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness without asking anybody else about it.

The world annually produces something like 3,000,000 tons of butter and cheese.

A King's Education.

A fund is being raised for the education of Malietoa Tanus, the young deposed King of Samoa, Secretary Hay has addressed a note to Great Britain and Germany, suggesting that each advance a small sum sufficient to defray the expenses of the former king while at school. This has been done at the request of Malietoa himself, the request having been transmitted to the state department through Consul General Osborn, who is still at Apia. Malietoa wishes to be educated at a European school, and it is probable that the powers will allow him the small amount of money necessary to defray the school expenses.

Malietoa Laupepa, the former king of Samoa, whose reign was full of trouble, and whose death in 1898 caused fresh disturbances to arise over the election of a successor, received for his own use in all about $50 per month. His spouse was obliged to take in washing in order to eke out the royal income. This was a rather lowly occupation for a queen, and it is doubtful if the income derived from this source enabled the royal pair to live in luxury. Laupepa himself had too much regard for his crown and his dignity to hire himself out to do odd jobs of any kind. Small as were the emoluments, there was always a lively competition among Samoan chiefs for the throne—a competition which gave rise to much bloodshed and internal disturbances, which on several occasions threatened to embroil the three great powers included in the tripartite agreement.

In 1881, by an agreement between Germany, Great Britain and the United States, Laupepa became king of all Samoa. But in 1887 Tamesese, another Samoan chief, encouraged by Germany, proclaimed himself king and raised the standard of revolt.

Just the other day the United States senate ratified the new Samoan treaty which hands the administration of Samoan affairs over to Germany. In all probability the young Tanus will not suffer financially, at least, from the loss of his throne.

Ceusus Figures.

An inaccurate census, like most other things that are inaccurate, is worse than none, for mal-information is worse than ignorance. The preliminary figures of the newly completed census of Cuba and Porto Rico show a total population for Cuba of 1,572,845, a loss from 1887 of 58,842. The population of Porto Rico is 957,000, which is an increase of 150,300 over the census of 1887. The largest Cuban province is Havana, which has 424,811 inhabitants, a falling of of 27,000 in the twelve years. The next largest is Santa Clara, which with its 356,534 residents, shows an increase of 2,000. Santiago has gained about as much as Pinar del Rio has lost, says the Army and Navy Journal. The former province returns a population of 327,716, an increase of 55,337, while Pinar has fallen from 225,891 to 173,082. Matanzas has dropped from 259,578 to 202,462. The smallest province in point of population is Puerto Principe, to which the census gives 88,237 inhabitants, a gain of 21,000.

Now there is no reason whatever for this variation in figures. That is to say, the losses and the gains are unaccountable. Probably the census of 1887, like most Spanish enterprises, was largely a matter of guess work.

Dangerous to Fool With.

The longest time that is known to have elapsed between the firing of a shell and its explosion is 44 years. Recently a shell which had been fired into the Russian harbor of Sebastopol during the Crimean War at least 44 years ago was hauled up by some fishermen, and it exploded on being taken from the water, killing one of the men and wounding several of the others, notwithstanding the long period which had elapsed since it had left the British gun which fired it. Finds of shells are exceedingly dangerous, if they happen to be unexploded ones, as a similar accident happened not long since at Bolton-le-Sands, where a dredger named Wilson fished up one that had been fired from the artillery camp at Bare, and took it home. An attempt to break it up cost him an eye, a foot and a broken head, besides causing serious damage to property.

Education in Porto Rico.

"Throughout the island of Porto Rico, with a million people and only about 500 scholars," said Gen. Eaton, "there was no system for plan of education save what had been in vogue under Spanish rule, changeless for 400 years. Eighty per cent. of the people were illiterate, consequently schools or education were of little interest to a people whom Spain wished to live in ignorance. The text books were crude affairs from Madrid—half catechism, half doubtful history and anxious axioms. There was not a map of the United States in the schools and scarcely one on the island. Although only 1,400 miles from New York and 600 from Florida, the average Porto Rican child read in his history book that the United States was a nation of comparatively little consequence with proud Castile, whose inhabitants were principally haughty millionaires, whose business was the crushing of the poor."

A BRIGHT IMPERSONATOR.

Miss Marie Knibloe. of Boston, who is to appear at the Academy of Music tonight, under the auspices of one of our best societies, is said to be a humorous impersonator and whistler of great ability. A Richmond paper says of her entertainment: "It was bright, witty and entertaining, and was an unexpected surprise to our people who are so often disappointed in such entertainments." "Miss Knibloe is undoubtedly an artiste," says an Asheville exehange, whether she is impersonating a child, man or woman, young or old. The character is right before you, and the change from smiles and laughter, to sobs and tears is complete. It is difficult to realize that there are not two people there—one who laughs, while the other cries."

Rather Absent-Minded.

A West Hoboken, N. J. man started to build a chicken coop the other morning. He constructed the floor firs and then stood on it and nailed up the side boards from the inside. After he finished the work to his satisfaction he found that he had left no place by which he could get out, the only opening in the coop being all right for a chicken, but hardly large enough for a man. The coop was uncovered, but he could not climb up the sides and he was not able to pry off any of the boards with his hammer. So he had to shout for help. After the neighbor who heard his cries had finished laughing he demolished a part of the coop and the builder was set at liberty.

The Wheat Problem.

Sir William Crookes of England, a recent address said that the greates problem of the times is the wheat demand and supply. Sir William is much afraid that we shall soon be obliged t eat something else—not so good—as substitute. In late years the consumption of wheat in the lands inhabited by whites has increased both actually and relatively—that is, not only ha the population demanding wheat as food increased greatly in numbers, bu there is also an increase in the amoun of wheat demanded by each componen of that population. In 1871, accordin to the undisputed figures here given there were 371,000,000 bread-eaters i the world. In less than thirty year that large figure has grown to th enormous total of 516,500,000. Thi last sum is increasing at the rate o 6,500,000 a year. Since 1885 a smalle and smaller addition has been mad to the total wheat acreage of th world year by year.

Great Britain is at the mercy of he enemies unless she can master th seas in order to permit the free impor tation of grain into her territory—from America in case of a war with Europ —from Russia, India and Egypt i case of a war with America. All muni tions of war fade into complete insig nificance in comparison with the mos important of all—food. Ships and can non, infantry and cavalry, are alik powerless if the men are not properly fed. If the enemies of England were ever able to put an efficient blockad upon her coasts she would have t surrender through starvation in a few months.

The United States is little less inter ested in the question. If some relief i not found, the present low rate of in crease in the wheat production of th country and the high rate of increase in the population and consequen wheat consumption of the country must soon equalize one another. From that it is only a matter of months be fore America, too, must depend upon importation of her supply. Slight tem porary relief can be found in Alaska in British Columbia, in the higher al titudes of Mexico and in irrigation within our own borders, but the grea part of the land which is suited to what is already under cultiva tion and all such relief can only be of the most temporary nature. What i true of wheat is true of all the othe grains grown for human food in a slightly less degree. Indian corn, rye barley and all the rest of the foods from which bread of one sort or an other can be made are in precisely th same predicament.

The remedy lies in better and les wasteful farming. The mean average yield of wheat to the acre in the United States is only twelve bushels. In the united kingdom it exceeds twenty nine bushels, and in Denmark it i nearly forty-two bushels. The use o fertilizers must increa e in order to increase the yield in America.

The Foreign Trade.

Our trade with Japan and China i gaining rapidly. During the year 189 the value of the merchandise ex changed with these two countries, in cluding the port of Hongkong, reached as high as $87,305,688. These figures were decidedly in excess of any pre vious record. The value for 1889, ten years before, was little more than hal as large, amounting to only $46,294, 167. The four years following 188 witnessed a steady increase that finally culminated in 1893 with a record o $60,281,386, the highest up to tha time. In the fiscal year 1894, during which our importaions were greatly curtailed as a result of the prevailing financial depression the trade dropped to $51,513,149. During 1895 there was a recovery to $57,509,859 and for each subsequent year the returns showed an important increase.

Of the $87,305,688 valuation placed upon our trade with Japan, China and Hongkong during 1899, $47,815, 035 represented the imports into the United States and $39,490,653 the exports from this country. The excess o imports over exports amounted to $8, 324,832. Formerly the excess was much larger.

By comparing the figures for 188 exports have increased much more rapidly than the imports. In the decade ending with 1899 there was a gain of $28,393,156 or 256 per cent. in exportation, while the increase in importation amounted to only $12,618,365, o 36 per cent. During the last few years in fact, the imports disclosed an actual falling off the value for 1899 being $1,164,131 less than that for 1896, which was recorded at $48,979,166 Our exports, on the other hand, amounting to $19,302,819, were more than doubled during the next three years, showing a gain of $20,187,834.

It has been found that an apparatus for killing animals with chloroform in England would not work in India, because the high temperature prevented the concentration of the chloroform vapor. That this was the cause was proved by the fact that by placing ice in the box the animals were readily killed.

A Big Battle

Between American Soldiers and British was fought one hundred and twenty four years ago in this county, when our boys broke the backbone of the British army.

Another great battle was pitched in Greensboro little over a year ago when we opened up our big gun on high prices. Our continuous fire and charge after charge has driven high prices to the back-ground. The prices we are giving now on Shoes, Clothing, Dress Goods, Notions, Shirt Waists and Gents' Furnishings, is the greatest shell that has ever struck this section, and it is one that braces up your pocketbook when it strikes it.

We have a few job counters of Dress Goods. Biggest values ever ssen in this city. Our five-cent counter catches everybody.

Clothing—$5 suits at 3.98; 7.50 suits at 4.98; 10.00 suits at 7.98; 200 pieces ribbon, satin and taffeta, 5, 10 and 15c, biggest values ever offered in Ribbons.

Don't wait but come right along and get some of the hot stuff in each department now being offered.

Straw Hats—Largest stock in the city but the lowest prices.

Shoes—Ladies' oxfords, worth 75c at 50c; children's shoes, 18c; children's slippers, 25c; Men's brogans, 50; 1.25 men's gaiters and bals at 1.00; 3.00 shoes at 2.48.

CAUSE AND EFFECT.

Have Any Business Men Been Unfortunate In Selecting Customers ?

To the Editor of the Telegram:

There has recently been published in your paper, two statements of quite divergent views. You published a list of 80 names and firms, who say they believe the dispensary has been a detriment to the business men of Greensboro. The other statement is in effect as follows: 159 merchants and business men say it has not been a detriment, 27 merchants say business has been better, 26 manufacturers, contractors and 39 mechanics say the same.

The above is individual opinion and may be influenced by the old adage, "that the wish is father to the thought" but there have been some other statements brought out that must be taken concensus of a fact: Increased deposits in our banks, $296.497.32, or nearly $1000 00 per day for the time. Increased post office receipts $2,974 84, which ought to be gratifying to us, as it makes Greensboro so near a first-class office.

Now the question arises how to account for, or harmonize the individual opinions expressed. There must, or usually is, cause for effect, and as a merchant's ability to sell, is somewhat dependent upon his customers' ability to buy or consume, it may be that some of those 80 names have been unfortunate in their selection of custom. X. X.

It is clear that Lord Roberts does not consider the war in South Africa ended, as he has put a stop to the return of civilians and has ordered the mining men back to Bloemfontein. He is credited with thinking that three months must elapse before affairs will be settled enough to permit of the resumption of business.

J. W. Bivins was last Saturday nominated by the Democrats of Union county for Representative, on a platform favoring the retention of the dispensary in Monroe and the retention of the road improvement tax in the county. Mr. J. E. Little, a former student of the University, the defeated candidate, opposed both these measures, and stumped the county against them.

NEWS FROM GOTHAM

A LETTER FROM THE NATION'S METROPOLIS.

Another Attempt to Reform—Two Views of the Saloon—Enormous Increase of City Salaries—A Conundrum—Minor Notes.

(New York Correspondence.)

If there is an other city in the world that has more liquor saloons to the square rod than New York, I don't know what one it is, and yet the crusade of the so-called Anti-Saloon League now going on here is not having much effect. Six years ago the League began the first crusade in Ohio. It swept the state, and its progress alarmed the politicians. Since that time it has estabished its crusade in thirty-two other states. It began its work in this state up in Poughkeepsie last May, and met with encouraging success. The fight is carried on on interdenominational lines. Through the churches the League hopes to reach the lawmakers and the voters. Meetings are frequent, and every man nominated for an elective office must pledge his support to the cause of the League's work or have the stamp of its disapproval set upon him.

We get one evil from the saloon in this city that you do not have in your own locality. There the saloon iis usually satisfied to exist without interefering much with politics, but here in New York the saloon is the recruiting place and stamping ground for political parties. To seek office in this city without the sanction of the corner saloon is practically useless, and although the liquor interest is largely represented among the office holders, its members are good enough to allow an outsider to hold a minor office, provided he contributes liberally and promises to stand by them.

But with the Anti-Saloon League crying that the saloon must go, and that Raines law hotels are chambers of horrors, and Rev. Dr. Parkhurst advocatiing more freedom to saloons, it is but fair to assume that King Alcohol will have about the same hold on the people next year as he has this. When good reformers differ so widely as to measures results are always insignificant.

Meantime Tammany is reaching out like Oliver Twist for "more," and there is general complaint at the enormous rise in salaries in the various city departments. At the present time the amount paid by the city in salaries and wages amounts to $41.995, 350, or more than 53 per cent. of the total budget. This is an increase in salaries over a year ago of $7,217.389, which is so large as to excite unfavorable criticism. A large part of this increase however, is due to laws passed by the state, increasing the salaries of teachers and other public servants. The increase in the Department of Education is $3,352,395, and few will offer any objection to this item. But there has been a wholesale increase of salaries paid to political office holders, and a marked increase in the number of "confidential clerks" and positions that appear to be sinecures. Tammany has discovered a gold mine in the government of the city, and, having at least two years more of power, is working it for all it is worth. The increase in salaries are in nearly every department, and include $33,699 in the Mayor's office, $28,840 in the Law Department, $459,121 in the Finance Department, $36,004 in the in the Police Department, $265,583 in the Highway Department $444,289 in the Sewer Department, $1,148,774 in the Street Cleaning Department in Manhattan and Bronx, and $547,712 in the Park Department.

The bill introduced in Albany by Senator Treat to tax all savings bank accounts of $1,000 or more, is meeting with a good deal of opposition by the bankers of this city on the ground that it strikes a blow at wage earners. One banker says: "It is a blow at the wage earner—at the industrious and thrifty poor who are stinting themselves in order to put by a pittance out of their daily wages." Without discussing the merits of the question at all. I would like to call attention to a singular psychological, social or mental phenomenon, namely: Why is it that the bankers are so very solicitous for the welfare of the workers. while the workers don't care a rap for the welfare of the bankers?

Rev. Madison C. Peters, formerly pastor of a Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia but for the past nine years pastor of the Bloomingdale reformed Church in this city has occasioned surprise by announcing his intention of resigning, in order to join the Baptist Church, and, if possible, the Baptist ministry, although he has now no particular charge in view. He says that he believes that baptism should be by immersion only, and that it should be extended only to adult believers. He does not hold to infant baptism. With these opinions he believes it to be his duty to join the Baptist denomination. His resignation will take effect March 1. He says this is no hasty decision.

The old story has been revived, sans names, about John Brisben Walker, of the Cosmopolitan Magazine, and William Dean Howells. Walker engaged the latter as editor at $10,000 a year, some time ago, and could not see why a "littery feller" should not sit down at his desk and do his work in regular fashion, just as his bookkeepers and engineer do. He looked askance at Mr. Howells as he came to his editorial den at all sorts of hours, whenever the mood seized him, and left in the same unceremonius way, and finally hinted to him that it would be much better were he to keep more regular hours. If ever there was a man thoroughly mad it was Howells, and he resigned at once. Mr. Walker thinks Mr. Howells is erratic. Mr. Howells does not say what he thinks of Mr. Walker.

"Mrs. Skinner has had to give up all the five clubs she belongs to."

"Has she nervous prostration?"

"No; but every time she went out of the house her husband moved all the furniture around."—Indianapolis Journal.

The Time of Day.

A majority of people suppose that the observatories obtain the correct time from the sun. When the average man wishes to give his watch the highest praise he says, "It regulates the sun," not being aware that a watch which would keep with the sun around the year would have to be nearly as bad as Captain Cuttle's. The farmer may safely decide when to go to dinner by the sun but if the mariner was as confident that the sun marked always the correct time as the farmer is he would be sure to be at times 200 or 300 miles from where he thought he was. In other words, the sun—that is, a sundial—is only correct on a few days in each year, and during the intervening times gets as far as a whole quarter hour fast or slow, according to Appleton's Popular Science Monthly.

There are several hundred stars whose positions have been established with the greatest accuracy by the most careful observations at a number of the principal observatories of the world. If a star's exact position is known, it can readily be calculated when it will pass the meridian of any given place—that is, the instant it will cross a north and south line through the place. The data regarding these stars are all published in the nautical almanacs, which are got out by several different observatories for the use of navigators and all others who have uses for them. These stars are known as "clock stars."

One Trust Gone.

The flour trust has collapsed. The concern was capitalized at $25,000,000 and controlled a large production. The collapse came from inability to float its securities in the open market. This same difficulty is likely to bring other of the trusts to grief. Many of them are wholly dependent upon the sale of their securities in this way, and in this circumstance lies one of the great weaknesses of many of these combinations. The trusts are unfortunately not all of this character, for some of them have immense financial strength within themselves, but no small number of them are quite likely to split upon the rock which has wrecked the Flour Trust. But there is another remedy for trusts. It is sure and safe. If applied rigidly it would rid the people of even the most intolerable. Suppose the people, as a unit, would make up their minds to do without coal oil for, say, a year? Rather a drastic and difficult medicine, it is true, but the world got along without kerosene oil for several hundred years of civilization and it can do so again. In fact the people can, upon a pinch, get along without almost anything controlled by trusts. Sunlight and air are not yet controlled by trusts, and the land is not yet all grabbed up. This idea of doing without is President Hadley's idea of Yale College. It is not at all a bad one.

Dr. J. J. Henna, a native of Puerto Rico, says that there are 288,000 beggars out of a population of 1,000,000 in that island.

WE ARE ORIGINATORS:

Not Imitators!

White Delivery Wagons have been a distinguishing mark of the Greensboro Steam Laundry for a number of years. Our customers have learned to "look out for the white wagons."

Competitors have seen fit to imitate our wagons, therefore we deem it wise to make a change.

Our wagons are now in the shop. About May 1st they will come out green, our forme color. In the mean time would respectfullly request our friends and patrons ta BEWARE of the white laundry wagons and see to it that the right driver gets the bundle. To avoid any possible confusion, in future our wagons will be lettered.

THE WEATHER.

For North Carolina: Fair, continued warm tonight and Friday.

Highest temperature at Greensboro past twenty-four hours ending eight o'clock this morning 92, lowest 73.

INCIDENTALS.

Short and Interesting News Items Gathered Together.

Miss Maude Hunter and Mr. Wesley White will sing at the Academy of Music tonight.

Be sure to hear Dan Hugh McLean tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock in the court house. He is one of the best speakers in the State.

The regular weekly meeeting of Greensboro Council No 13, Jr. O. U. A. M, will be held tonight. An interesting meeting is expected.

Mrs. E. M. Goolsby, it will be much regretted to learn, is quite sick at her home on Sycamore street. Miss Mary also continues very sick.

Let everybody hear Miss Marie Knibloe tonight in her very laughable society sketch "How some divorces are made, or why many marriages are a failure."

Miss Marie Knibloe, the daughter of a Boston clergyman, comes to Greensboro very highly recommended, both by the press and church organizations all over the country.

Rain interfered with the game of ball between Greensboro and Madison, at the Athletic Park, yesterday afternoon. The game was called off at the end of the fourth inning.

The ladies have not had time to advertise Miss Knibloe, the impersonator, as she rightly deserves, but they hope all who can will hear her at the Academy of Music tonight. Admission 25 cents.

As the Madison train was going out this morning it ran into a farmer's wagon on the McGhee street crossing. The wagon was loaded with wheat, which was scattered on the ground, the wagon being only slightly injured.

Alice Payne, colored, was before Justice Pritchett yesterday afternoon on a peace warrant sworn out by Julia Cain, also colored. The case was dismissed as frivolous and malicious prosecution, the plaintiff being taxed with the costs.

Despite the fact that a large crowd was in town yesterday, the police had a comparatively easy day of it. Only two drunks were locked up, they both having become intoxicated at the Battle Ground. There were two or three fights.

A book reception and picnic was held at Low's church, in the eastern part of the county, yesterday. Addresses were delivered by Judge Albert L. Coble, of Statesville; Prof. W. T. Whitsett, of Whitsett Institute, and Rev. J. D. Andrew, of Burlington.

Paisley Encampment, No 10, will hold an important meeting tomorrow night. There will be work in the first degree, after which the newly elected officers will be installed and a banquet served. Every member is requested to be present.

The regular monthly meeting of the Southsided Hose Company will be held this evening at 8 o'clock. Delegates to the tournament at Wilmington will be elected and it is very important that all the members be present.

The Eagle Juniors will repeat their lawn party on the court house square tomorrow night. An abundance of cream and cake will be served and a pleasant evening is assured all who may attend. The boys wish to raise money to defray their expenses to the tournament at Wilmington.

In the report of the Battle Ground celebration yesterday the Telegram inadvertently stated that the music was furnished by the Gate City Band, when it should have been the Proximity Band. The first named band furnished music for a Republican speaking at Graham. The managers of the Battle Ground celebration were fortunate in securing good music.

On account of being overstocked with ladies' oxford ties we have decided to cut the price right in the middle of the season while you want them and you can now have choice of six different styles of fine black vici kid oxfords at $1.50 a pair.
